The Union agrees the Employer will continue its present practice of supervisors and managers supporting the operations of the hotel as has been the custom.

1.04 CONTRACTED SERVICES

The Employer agrees that all work coming under the jurisdiction of this Union, in the certified area, performed by anyone, on behalf of, or at the instance of the Employer, directly or indirectly under contract or sub-contract, shall be performed by employees who are members of this Union or who shall become members in accordance with the terms and conditions as set out in this Agreement.

Such an employee may decline the additional hours without affecting her rights under the Agreement. All sixth shifts shall be offered in order of seniority in the classification where the work is available.

9.08 PAYMENT FOR TIME IN LIEU OF BREAKS

HARASSMENT & BULLYING FREE WORKPLACE POLICY

As a responsible employer, Coast Hotels is committed to maintaining a work environment free from all forms of harassment and bullying.

The company will not tolerate, ignore, or condone workplace harassment or bullying and considers harassment and bullying to be serious offenses which may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.

All employees are responsible for respecting the dignity and rights of their co-workers and the guests they serve. Department Heads play a significant role in ensuring that the policy objectives outlined below are achieved.

Given the serious nature of the matter, abuse of the policy on harassment and bullying by falsely accusing (directly or indirectly) other Coast employees of abuse, is a serious offense and will be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination.

PRINCIPLES

- Freedom from harassment and bullying in the workplace is a fundamental right of all Coast employees.
- Harassment and bullying are issues which affect everyone.
- Fairness for all parties involved is essential. All information, evidence and circumstances will be carefully considered when deciding upon the proper course of action.
- The efficient handling of all complaints and other actions taken to resolve, prevent or address harassment and bullying is necessary to ensure that the rights of individuals are not prejudiced or jeopardized.

DEFINING HARASSMENT AND BULLYING

Harassment and bullying take on many forms but can be generally defined as behaviours such as conduct or comments which are inappropriate or otherwise offensive to an individual, or group of individuals, which may cause an individual to feel humiliated or intimidated, and may create an uncomfortable work environment.

Coast Hotels is in full compliance with the Canada Labour Code, the Canadian Human Rights Commission, the BC, Alberta and Northwest Territories Human Rights Codes, and the Citizen and Multiculturalism Act, in recognizing that it is illegal to discriminate, harass or bully a person because of:

Race, Nationality, Age, Political Belief or Association, Colour, Religion/Creed, Sex, Criminal Conviction, Ancestry, Marital Status, Sexual Orientation, Place of Origin, Family Status, Gender Identity, Ethnic Origin, Physical or Mental Disability.

All Coast employees have the right to freedom from sexual solicitation and reprisals for refusing or rejecting sexual advances. Harassment and bullying can be defined as single incidents, series of incidents, or exist systemically as part of the work environment.

TYPES AND EXAMPLES OF BULLYING AND HARASSMENT

Examples of Direct and Intentional Bullying and Harassment

Offensive behaviours, gestures, comments or conduct which are directed specifically at an individual are often quite obvious and consequently, readily detectable. Examples of the type of bullying and harassment may include:

- Written or verbal insults, abuses or threats;
- Racial or ethnic slurs including racially derogatory nicknames;
- Offensive remarks, jokes, innuendoes or taunting about a person's body, age, marital status, gender, ethnic/racial origin, religion, accent, or disabilities;
- Practical jokes which cause personal embarrassment, endanger an employee's safety or negatively affect work performance;
- Persistent leering (suggestive staring) or other obscene/offensive gestures;
- Unwanted and inappropriate physical contact such as touching, kissing, patting, pinching, or brushing up against a person;
- Unwelcome and explicit sexually oriented remarks, invitations, requests.
- Unsolicited inquiries and degrading comments or innuendoes about a person's sex life, or sexual preferences;
- Physical assault (including sexual assault);
- Misuse of authority towards another person (e.g. unfair delegation or assignment of work, excessive or unfair discipline);
- Behaviour that is intended to intimidate, offend, degrade, or humiliate a particular person or groups of people or any inappropriate conduct by a person towards a worker that the person knew or reasonably ought to have known would cause that worker to be humiliated or intimidated

Examples of Indirect and Unintentional Bullying and Harassment

Bullying and harassment may also include behaviour, comments or activities which are not directed specifically at an individual but which, nonetheless, create a degrading or offensive work environment. Examples of the type of bullying and harassment are much more subtle and may include:

- Displaying materials which are sexually explicit, degrading, racist, ethnic or religious in a degrading or derogatory manner;
- Displaying graffiti which is sexually explicit, degrading, racist, ethnic or religious in a degrading or derogatory manner

POLICY APPLICATION

The Coast Hotels Bullying and Harassment Free Workplace policy applies to all Coast employees regardless of status, title, or property location, including Corporate Head Office.

LEADERSHIP AND EMPLOYEE RESPONSIBILITIES

All Coast employees are held responsible to create and maintain a workplace which is free from bullying and harassment. They are responsible for ensuring that bullying and harassment are not allowed, condoned or ignored and may be considered party to the bullying and harassment if they knowingly fail to take corrective actions. They are responsible to report if they observe or experience bullying or harassment. They are also responsible for preventing the development, escalation or recurrence of bullying and harassment and to apply and comply with Coast's policies and procedures on bullying and harassment, including cooperating in any investigation.

CONFIDENTIALITY

Coast Hotels will ensure that all complaints are investigated and handled in a fair and proper manner so that the identities of the person(s) and circumstances involved are kept confidential.

A. INTERNAL PROCESS

There is a four (4) step process in the investigation of all alleged bullying and harassment complaints:

Step 1: INFORMAL PROCESS: Requesting action and resolution directly from the harasser(s)

Step 2: INFORMAL PROCESS: Requesting assistance from others in the company

Step 3: FORMAL PROCESS: Filing a formal complaint

Step 4: FORMAL PROCESS: Filing a formal grievance (for unionized hotels)

STEP 1: REQUESTING RESOLUTION DIRECTLY FROM THE HARASSER(S)

Coast employees who experience bullying and harassment must first attempt to make it known to the individual(s) responsible, that the behaviour is unwelcome and request that it stops. The harasser(s) may not realize that the behaviour is unwelcome. In many instances this will stop the undesired behaviour.

The Company recognizes that in some situations dealing directly with the harasser(s) may be difficult or inappropriate, or that the individual may have attempted to tell the harasser(s) to stop without success. In the case, the employee can escalate the concern to Step 2 as outlined below.

STEP 2: REQUESTING ASSISTANCE

Coast employees who experience bullying and harassment and have unsuccessfully tried to deal with the harasser(s) directly, or who feel that a direct approach (i.e. Step 1) may not be appropriate, may choose to have the matter dealt with on an informal basis with the assistance of others prior to proceeding with a formal complaint.

The purpose of the step is to provide a means of obtaining information, voicing the concern and seeking an informal resolution of the issue through the assistance of others within the company.

If employees are unsure whether they have experienced bullying and harassment, or if they would like to proceed with the matter on an informal basis in the interest of seeking an informal resolution, they should report the incident immediately to one of the following individuals:

1. People & Culture Representative
2. Department Head
3. General Manager
4. Union Steward/Representative

Often, bullying and harassment is the result of misunderstanding and miscommunication; proceeding informally may identify the problem readily and produce a quick and simple solution without having to engage in a full investigation. When the above reporting avenues are not appropriate, employees may report to their provincial human rights commission.

Where attempts to achieve an informal resolution of the problem are unsuccessful, or inappropriate, a formal complaint may be filed. All formal complaints will result in an investigation conducted by one of the following:

1. People & Culture Representative
2. General Manager
3. Executive Director, People & Culture

STEP 3: FILING A FORMAL COMPLAINT

All formal complaints will be investigated by the People & Culture Representative, General Manager or Executive Director, People & Culture, and the person will be referred to as the “Investigating Officer”.

If a formal complaint is received by someone other than those listed above, it is their responsibility to ensure that the People & Culture Representative, General Manager or Executive Director, People & Culture is notified about the complaint as soon as possible. Upon receipt of the formal complaint, the investigative process will begin with the complaint being documented in writing. The complaint must include a description of the incident, witnesses, and the steps already taken to resolve the matter.

Receipt and Documentation of the Complaint

Upon receipt of the written complaint an interview will be scheduled with the employee to discuss and clarify the incident and identify steps taken to resolve the matter. The employee may be represented or assisted by a person of their choosing.

Where applicable, the general provisions of the grievance procedure will apply when the General Manager becomes involved.

All complaints will be dealt with as quickly as possible to avoid unwarranted anxiety, and misrepresentation.

Clarification and File Opening

When a formal complaint is received in writing it shall be documented and a file opened by the Investigating Officer. To ensure that the complaint is documented accurately the Investigating Officer will contact the complainant for clarification or further information. All notes from the previous steps will be requested by the Investigating Officer and appended to the complaint file as background information.

Complaint Investigation

The Investigating Officer will be responsible for investigating complaints, except in situations where it is necessary or appropriate to have the investigation carried out by an external third party. The general course of action during the investigation process involves three (3) stages:

1. Fact finding

A confidential interview will be conducted with relevant parties to obtain information and to clarify the details of the reported incident. Both parties will have an opportunity to identify witnesses or others to be interviewed. Where witnesses are not identified, or where otherwise appropriate, co-workers may be interviewed. All interviews will be conducted in a confidential manner and all efforts will be made by the Investigating Officer to deal with interviews in a manner which respects the nature of the work environment.

Notes will be taken after interviewing the complainant, respondent, and any relevant witnesses, including co-workers, if necessary. Participants may be asked to verify the notes.

2. Preliminary findings

When the information revealed early in the investigation suggests a reasonable possibility of resolution, the Investigating Officer may choose to propose a resolution at the stage.

When the situation arises, the Investigating Officer will convene separate meetings with the parties involved to discuss preliminary findings of the investigation and inform participants of the possibility and nature of the resolution and the reasons.

The stage allows for all parties to become aware and agree with the tentative findings and presents the opportunity, based on the information, to resolve the matter without further complications.

Where agreement is reached and the matter deemed resolved, the Investigating Officer will document the outcome in a summary report. The report can, with the written consent of the complainant, be made available to identified participants upon request.

3. Further Investigations

Where, as a result of preliminary findings, a resolution cannot be reasonably proposed or achieved, a full, official, investigation will be conducted.

4. Notification and Discussion of Results

The Investigating Officer will schedule subsequent meetings with the complainant; alleged harasser, Department Head and any other applicable person(s) including appropriate Union Representative if necessary, to further clarify, discuss and document the circumstances and information of the case as appropriate.

Results of the Investigation/Mediation

Complaint Supported

Where the results of the full formal investigation support a specific complaint of bullying and harassment, or where the results suggest the existence of a systemic problem(s) in the work environment, some or all of the following may be the recommended forms of remedial action:

- Education and training
- Review and modification of policies, procedure and practices

- Disciplinary action up to and including termination
- Continuous monitoring

Where deemed reasonable and appropriate, the Investigating Officer may propose and develop a more comprehensive strategy for the elimination and prevention of bullying and harassment to improve the overall workplace. Only where formal disciplinary actions have been implemented as a result of an investigation will a notation be made in the affected employees' file.

Complaint Unsupported

Where the results of the investigation do not support the allegations, such allegations of bullying and harassment will be discussed, and if necessary, investigated as to motive. Where, as a result of such an investigation, it is determined that the complaint was malicious, that is to say with a specific and direct intent to harm someone – or made in bad faith with reasonable knowledge of an intent to harm, formal and severe disciplinary actions may be taken against the complainant up to and including termination. Documentation regarding the disciplinary action will be placed in the employee's file.

a) Pursuing Other Remedies Post-Investigation

Employees have the right to pursue other remedies provided either in law or as per their respective collective agreement. Where an alternate means is chosen during the course of an internal investigation, the internal investigation may be set aside or terminated.

b) Monitoring

Unless the complaint has been found to be unsupported, once a resolution of the complaint has occurred, the Investigating Officer will ensure that a proper monitoring system is in place. Follow-up is a critical component of effective complaint resolution.

In most cases, follow-up should occur regularly over a minimum six (6) month period from the date of resolution. All follow-up interviews will be documented and placed in the investigation file.

B. EXTERNAL PROCESS

There are two (2) external options for dealing with a bullying and harassment complaint:

1. Filing a complaint directly with the Human Rights Commission
2. Seeking outside legal council

C. THIRD PARTY AND ANONYMOUS COMPLAINTS

An investigation will be undertaken when a complaint is received from an employee who is directly and personally affected by the incident(s) being reported. Complaints may also be investigated when reported by an employee who is not being bullied and harassed directly but where there is a direct and personal impact or demonstrable knowledge as a result of bullying and harassment involving others.

Third parties such as Union Steward/Representatives or lawyers who are acting on behalf of an employee can file a formal complaint.

Anonymous complaints may not be taken seriously unless they are supported by substantial corroborating evidence. To ensure that the matter will be dealt with effectively and efficiently, and not prejudice an investigation, all complaints or concerns should be brought forward immediately.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU ARE ACCUSED OF BULLYING AND HARASSMENT

If you are asked by a co-worker to stop a behaviour which could be constituted as bullying and harassment, assess your behaviour seriously. Understand that even if you did not intend to offend, your behaviour has been perceived as offensive. Cease the behaviour that the other person finds offensive immediately and apologize. Failure to cease the behaviour will leave you more vulnerable to a formal complaint which could lead to disciplinary action if the complaint is substantiated.

If you believe the complaint is unfounded or made in bad faith, discuss the matter with your People & Culture Representative, General Manager, or Executive Director, People & Culture. You are entitled to know the allegations against you and to have an opportunity to respond. You are also entitled to representation or accompaniment by a Union Representative or lawyer.

If you are named as the harasser in a complaint, the investigative procedure for such complaints may be extensive, difficult and cause a great degree of stress. Efforts will be made to minimize your anxiety and provide you with a fair hearing and the benefit of reasonable doubt.

PEOPLE & CULTURE AND SUPPORT SERVICES

The People & Culture Representative, General Manager and Executive Director, People & Culture form an integral part in the overall complaint and resolution process. Not only can they offer an alternate method of dealing with bullying and harassment through mediation and resolution of a complaint, but they can also provide advice and support for all Coast employees.

Please refer to the Occupational Health & Safety Policy for related information.
